

I think you would be doing a disservice to Indiana residents if you chose to change the current law. I can now answer my phone in my very hectic evenings and not worry that it will be someone who is trying to sell me something, but it will be a family member or friend who needs to talk. I hated screening my calls, but now I don't have to. Please, please reconsider your plans and review Indiana's current laws.